Claim Objections

1. Claims 2 and 5 are objected to because "an end" should be --an end point-- at lines 10 and 6, respectively. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mayweather et al. (US 2003/0031126).

2. Regarding claims 1-4 and 12, Mayweather discloses a failure detecting apparatus for detecting network failures (fig. 1; fig. 8, steps 1-2), based on information obtained from monitor target equipment which is disposed within a communication network (fig. 1) and which has several communication interfaces (fig. 6, items 30 and 32). The apparatus comprises a storage device for storing traffic flow information (para. 59, lines 1-10; para. 61; para. 65; fig. 7, item 49) indicating the amount of receiving traffic and transmitting traffic (note: traffic on each link is determined (para. 59, lines 1-10), a computation device for computing an amount of abnormal traffic (para. 13, lines 1-3) using a virtual point set in the monitor target equipment as an end point among several segments of traffic inside the monitor target equipment (fig. 7; note: interfaces 30 and 32) using the traffic flow information and outputting an obtained flow as the amount of abnormal traffic (para. 13, lines 1-5; para. 42, last two lines; note: BER calculation involves traffic rate - para. 103 - one bit error for every 10^9 bits transmitted), and determination device determining whether there is a failure using the amount of abnormal traffic, thereby outputting a determined result (para. 13, lines 1-5). Further regarding claim 2, the apparatus performs its functionality using computer instructions (para. 179).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 5-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
